

Lost and Found by Hans Feyerabend, 2009, Digital Media

Lost and Found

An Exhibit by Hans Feyerabend
March 6 through May 1, 2009

The title of the show "Lost and Found" refers to the ever changing character of our natural surroundings: a sea creatures life lost becomes a found "treasure" on the beach, admired for its unique color and shape. The sculptures "Seepferd" (Sea Horse) and "Octopus" are made from palm and tree branches found in and around Miami. They lost their purpose for the plant, which shed them off, to become part of a new entity, a work of art.

For more information visit <http://www.feyerabend.com>

Opening Reception

Sunday, March 29
4 to 7 o'clock

Biscayne Nature Center Gallery
North Beach Entrance
Crandon Park, Key Biscayne
Tel: 305.361.6767 ext. 123

www.BiscayneNatureCenter.org

With the support of the Miami-Dade County Department of Cultural Affairs and the Cultural Affairs Council, the Miami-Dade County Mayor and Board of County Commissioners.

